ACI Home Performance Conference 2009
Kansas City, Missouri
April 27 – May 1, 2009

America's premier educational conference for high performance homes is back by popular demand in Kansas City. Don't miss this opportunity to explore the latest techniques and practices for energy efficiency in residential buildings. Affordable Comfort, Inc. brings you the latest building science solutions with cutting edge workshops and a two-day trade show, focused on green building and "house as a system" skills, with an additional emphasis on business development and marketing. Learn from respected presenters, and meet leaders in the emerging home performance industry. An essential networking event for all building professionals! If you are a builder, remodeler, contractor, home energy rater, weatherization provider, program administrator, or consultant, don't be left behind.
